INVITATION

Dear Colleagues,

With great pleasure the Ergastirion of Systemic Thinking and Training is inviting you to the "2nd Interactive Symposium in Systemic Psychotherapy" themed "Searching for the Unpredictable in Psychotherapy", that will take place on 1-2 November 2014 in Heraklion, Crete (Astoria Capsis Hotel).

While unpredictability is an integral part of life, in common sense and in classical science the prevailing beliefs rest on predictability and control. There is perhaps no coincidence that a large part of the problems that people bring to therapy is associated with loss of control (feelings, thoughts, behaviors).

The purpose of the symposium is to approximate as closely as possible the fragile balance in life between certainty and uncertainty, stagnation and progress, stability and instability.

The symposium is organized with international participation and will include presentations as well as interactive workshops from the most distinguished Greek and foreign instructors in Systemic Psychotherapy, members of the European Family Therapy Association - Training Institute Chamber

We invite you to a creatively unpredictable weekend.

Sincerely
The chairman of the symposium

Panagiotis Chrysos, MD
